There we were a-sitting,
Sitting with the sheep,
Just a little bleating
Keeping us from sleep.
Suddenly a light came
Shining down from the sky,
And our world was changed
In the blinky blinky blink of an eye.

Slowly they descended,
Drifted through the air.
Everything was quiet,
All we did was stare.
Then a voice was speaking,
Said we'd nothing to fear.
And we must admit,
It was just the thing we wanted to hear.

Go to Bethlehem,
It isn't very far.
Lying in a stable
Underneath a star,
You will find the baby Jesus
There in the hay.
Then they said goodbye
And they spread their wings and floated away.

We were so excited,
All our fear had gone.
From the hills we hurried,
Got a wriggle on,
Made our way into the town
To see where he lay,
Cos the angels said
We should go to meet our Saviour today.
Cos the angels said
We should go to meet our Saviour today.
